

LEARNING

Jackson Pollock was an American artist (1912-1956) who painted using a style of abstract process art called drip painting.

He put giant canvases on the floor and would use different tools to drip, pour and splatter paint onto the canvas from above. He was often very unhappy and he used his art to express his feelings.

TECHNIQUES

Explore splattering, dripping, pouring and the effects you can create.

Think about how you feel when you have such freedom to express yourself.

Have you created a work of art or a mess?

What is the difference?

JACKSON POLLOCK

KS1 Knowledge Organiser

ART & DESIGN

Spring Term

VOCABULARY

Traditional—A style of art of that was developed a long time ago, is well recognised and is still used today

Abstract—artwork that is based on colours, shapes or patterns, rather than objects which you recognise

Process art—a form of abstract art where the process of making the piece of art itself is the focus. Jackson Pollock used the process of drip-painting.